

As the end of term approaches the children have been displaying just how much they have grown and progressed over the year. So many of the children really enjoy going to the writing table to write stories and lists. When there is no space they ask to come and sit on the carpet with whiteboards so they can write. I think they are ready for Year 1 now.

This week has been particularly exciting as we have had a visit from Michael Rosen the renowned children's author and poet. The children learnt the story of 'We're Going On A Bear Hunt' off by heart earlier in the year. This week they really enjoyed Michael Rosen's poem 'Don't' and lots of the children wrote their own version of the poem.

In other areas of the classroom the children have been cooperating really well by playing some board games to support them with their addition and subtraction skills. At the art children they have been creating art using collage and they are all enjoying pretending to be teacher in the book corner and read books to each other.

Red Class will be missed but we wish them all the best for Year 1. Have a lovely Summer and keep reading.
