

2F Blog

This term in year 2, in science, we have been observing our environment and have been thinking about 'Our Changing World'. We talked about the different seasons and observed the plants and the pond area. We noticed that some of the plants are starting to die and discussed the reasons why. We decided it was because we are approaching the end of summer and the weather is getting cooler. We look forward to observing this area throughout the year in 'Our Changing World' lessons.
