

In RE last half term, we learnt all about the Hindu festival of Diwali. Through the story of Rama and Sita we explored why light means so much to some Hindu people and how the lamps (Diya's) are a symbol of good overcoming evil. We discussed why it is good to make helpful and kind choices, thinking about our British Values and how we can link them to the story. At the end of the unit we designed, created and decorated our own Diya lamps to take home. Diwali is on Wednesday 7th November this year and we can't wait to see how our Hindu friends celebrate!
